Still happening...Adrian Duffield is the only rep today. He told us that his info from his CE was that City stated that they only wanted transformational growth and S&V couldn't agree to that so it fell...we haven't spent much time on that though. I just said we were surprised that was a crunch meeting as there was a technical answer available, not all avenues explored yet

We've just run through the evidence base studies and decided to cancel most and consider a few in more detail at next week's planning policy managers meeting. Haven't explicitly said we're recommissioning the OGNA but I said I'm instructed to move at pace and need to fill the evidence base gap and we're happy to work with whoever wants to work with us...is that enough do you think?

Any decisions at Heads of Planning today?

What did south have to say and who represented them?

Adrian
