- 1. The Planning Inspectors appointed by the Secretary of State to examine the Local Plan 2040 requested data on commuting patterns into Oxford on Friday 7th June 2024. As such, the Council published a hearings note in advance of the hearing sessions on Monday 10th June 2024.
- 2. During the hearing sessions, the Inspectors requested that the note include information from the 2011 Census as well as more information about origins of commuters to Oxford and Oxfordshire and net commuter flows (origin/destination). This note has therefore been updated on Friday 21st June with this additional information.
- 3. This note includes data from the Census 2021. The travel to work data is caveated by the Office for National Statistics (ONS) as it was carried out during a Covid-19 lockdown when advice was to stay at home where possible. The indications are this data has been influenced by the response to the Covid pandemic at the time.

- 4. The number of workers commuting is a lot lower than the total number of workers, and much lower than it would be calculated to be now, as it is highly distorted by the circumstances at the time of the Census.
- 5. In order to provide context to the commuting data for Oxfordshire, the Council can also provide the relevant data for other relevant authorities in the South East.

5. Unlike many of the other comparators, Oxfordshire has its main urban centre (Oxford) within the countywide data, as it is not a unitary authority. This effect of removing main urban centres from the county-level dataset may be to skew the commuting patterns in those area. Ultimately, however, whilst Oxfordshire level of in-commuters has grown from 2011-21, it still remains relatively low in terms of the % of in-commuters (unlike Oxford) and does operate an FEMA. The very high net gain in commuters is another sign of the strong economy, as a relatively low level of commuters leave the area for work.
